👤 ABOUT

I am a senior fullstack programmer with over 12 years of experience, having participated and/or led more than 300 web projects over these years.

I believe in the excellence of a project, which goes far beyond the addition itself, from the beginnings of requirements gathering, through the construction of an interface that brings both beauty and user experience and, finally, the continuous improvement of the project.

I have the goal of constant learning, always aligning my projects with the best technologies and best practices, online as up-to-date as possible in this very changing field.
